FIRE ON BY INSURGENTS.

The Clyde Line steamer New York arrived at Santo Domingo yesterday morning conveyed by the United States cruiser Newark, and Minister Powell instructed the captain of the vessel to discharge his cargo at the wharf. An agreement had been made by Minister Powell and Commander Miller with the insurgents and the government that neither party should fire while the New York was at the wharf discharging.

The government kept the agreement, but the insurgents fired on the steamer and on a launch from the cruiser Newark, which was entering the river. Eight rifle shots damaged the New York's woodwork, endangering the lives of the passengers and crew.

The commander of the United States warships then decided to shell Pajarito, near Santo Domingo, the place occupied by the insurgents, and to land 300 marines, with the object of punishing the insurgents for insulting the United States flag and damaging an American steamer.

At 2:30 p. m. the Newark approached and opened fire, discharging ten shells.
The insurgents fired upon the marines while they were landed, wounding some of them. The marines returned the fire and the insurgents ran away.

The marines landed were divided into two columns, and searching the houses, woods, and bushes. They then followed the insurgents, who fired while the marines were reloading. The result of the bombardment is not known.

The New York left Santo Domingo at 5 p. m., for the roadstead after landing her cargo. All is now quiet, and it is supposed that the insurgents have retreated a considerable distance. Reports from the interior are favorable to the government.

Great misery exists in the city for want of food, and the arrival of the Clyde line steamer is a great relief. The steamer could not land a portion of her cargo at Monte Cristo, being prevented from doing so by a Dominican warship.

Marines from the United States cruiser Columbia remained stationed at Pajarito (near Santo Domingo city) until yesterday afternoon, when they withdrew.
During the occupancy the insurgents withdrew to a great distance without further resistance. The shells from the cruiser Newark caused some damage at Pajarito and the surrounding country.

A protest signed by prominent citizens has been distributed to the public against the action of the United States warships which it describes as an insolent outrage against the liberty of the republic and a disgrace to the national dignity.

The Newark left yesterday afternoon for Guantanamo. The day passed quietly but yesterday evening firing began at the west gate of the city.

On Saturday a French merchant steamer entered the river, conveyed by a launch from the United States cruiser Columbia. The rebels abstained from firing on the vessel. Yesterday morning the government troops attacked the rebels outside the city, and severe firing ensued lasting many hours. The rebels were forced to retire, leaving many killed and wounded on the field. The action resulted in a complete victory for the government, and the siege of the city is considered to have been raised.

War in a Mess Hall.

The delightful evening meal in the mess hall of Richmond College was well-nigh spoiled Saturday, all because four fortunate and happy young men brought to supper an equal number of very pretty young ladies, "co-eds," as they are called. The story is short but interesting. When the supper bell rang into the spacious refectory in the rear of the main building the students rushed in care free, happy and hungry. When all were seated, with the usual buzz as for many years past at this and other hours of the day, in walked four young ladies and their gallant escorts.

A tidal wave of delight at the feminine presence swept through the hall. In fact, the glee and excitement of the students could hardly be restrained from a stormy outburst. There was applause as a sign of the cordial welcome extended the visitors. But unfortunately the girls' presence and musical laughter would not go round. One daring student, more envious and lonely than the rest, threw a roll at one of the escorts.
It flew a little wild, but was followed with better success by another from a different quarter of the house. From then on rolls traveled through the air of the mess hall with aim as true, if not as deadly, as shells flew from Japanese guns off Port Arthur a short while ago.

The story goes that war was accidentally made on noncombatants, but no one was hurt. Finally peace reigned where there had been a downpour of rolls, and one of the remotest possibilities is that other "co-eds" will again unexpectedly venture within the fring line.

A Dunkard's Prophecy.

A. C. Leubart, a Dunkard of York, Pa., who is known to those of his sect of the middle and middle western States as a "divine healer," has caused a stir by predicting the coming of Christ and the destruction of the world. Leubart

The coinage of nickels was begun in 1866. The latest report from the has a following in York and adjoining counties who have faith in his power to heal, and to these he has been uttering his predictions. He says that the world has reached that apex of wickedness that calls for the coming of Christ, and that he will visit this sphere within the next quarter of a century, and that in the year 2000 the world will be destroyed.

He declares that there were seven periods of the creation, and that we are now entering the seventh. Leubart says he has devoted 20 years to the study of the Scriptures, and by his interpretation of all the prophecies therein the world will end at the time he predicts. He has been in York about four years, having gone there from Somerset county. At his home he has during the past year received over 1,000 persons who came for treatment. He has visited many counties in Pennsylvania and Maryland and has made several trips to western states.
He treats ill by means of Bible verses and what he terms the sacred numbers of the Bible. He says that all the Psalms that many of the verses of Genesis and the verses of the New Testament possess great curative powers in the hands of those who know how to apply them.

Ate Himself Out of Debt.

If Maxe Groult had not had a great appetite the Paris courts would not have had to decide a particularly knotty point of law this week. Groult was a fre-quenter of the Madrid restaurant, in the Bois de Boulogne. The proprietor gave him credit, until one day he found that Groult had run up a staggering bill.
Groult, when dunned, frankly confessed his inability to pay. The dismayed restaurant man was suddenly struck with an idea. A life devoted to the pleasures of the table was beginning to tell on Groult. "I'll tell you what to do," said his creditor. "Insure your life in my favor for $10,000. Then come here and eat all you want. No one will ask you for money." Groult, as was expected of him, ate himself to death quickly, and there was a good profit for the Madrid restaurant in the bargain.
Unluckily, the proprietor died, too. Kinsmen of Groult sued to enjoin payment of the life insurance policy on the ground that by encouraging him to eat extravagantly the restaurant man was responsible for his death. The court, however, decided that the insurance must be paid to the proprietor's widow.
